

Wisdom of light in architecture

Ardeshir Cyrus
Architect & Planner
Shahriar@Cyrus-art.com

The human society's life has been affected by sunlight from the beginning, having decisive influence and impact on their formation and evolution process during the centuries. The highlighted presence of the light in all the levels and activities of human life is evident for all of us. From the beginning human focused on the light sources to observe and understand the material life of its surrounding world.

The giants in philosophy and science paid special attention to the light as a fundamental element that characterized our everyday life. Just to give some examples we can mention the Greek philosopher Aristotle or Newton, who throw their observations and theories tried to decode what they looked for in the hidden essence of life.

During the centuries the mankind completed and tried to answer the questions that he made and concluded that the light is the base and source of all the material possibilities that make our life on the earth.

Our everyday life is continuously influenced by the presence of light. Through our visual capacity that is possible only in presence of light, we can see the world that is surrounding us, making an imaginary copy of the reality in our mind, giving us the input to continue our life with love and emotion. A superficial view is also enough to understand and see the influence of the light in spiritual and religious spheres of our life. The mosques, churches and other worshipping places are material constructions that show how man tried to achieve higher spiritual levels of life through the use and application of light.